50 academic departments in the liberal arts and sciences. Active citizenship is an important and enduring mission for Tufts students. All undergraduates join professors in scholarly pursuits or embark on independent projects. The opportunity to study abroad is a hallmark of the undergraduate experience at Tufts. Students study in more than 30 countries and gain critical understanding of different cultures and perspectives.

A new music building adjacent to Aidekman Arts Center will hold approximately 600-seat recital hall, recital rooms, classrooms, and a music library. Despite the abundance of hard hats and construction materials, our vision of learning and academic excellence is the focus. We are confident that these new resources will enhance the ways that we communicate the Tufts message to students. We look forward to another successful year as we continue to transform the Class of 2010.

I am delighted to share with you the Class of 2009 profile. For the fifth time in six years, Tufts received a record number of applications; as the profile will show you, the pool was a high-achieving and diverse one from all over the world. As we look in the Class of 2010, I’d like to share with you what Tufts represents and why the Class of 2009 might be an interesting group as well as communicate some exciting changes at the university.

Tufts is a diverse community of students, faculty, and staff from across the world. In addition to those students who entered the university in the fall of 2005, the Class of 2009 will be housed at Tufts, includes the “Rainbow Project” which welcomes residents of all gender identities and sexual orientations. The university is committed to making its community more accepting of all students and is investing in a new music building adjacent to Aidekman Arts Center.

The Admissions Process at Tufts

The admissions process is a detailed and individualized one, designed to focus on the intellectual strengths of the applicant while understanding the richness and breadth of backgrounds. Close attention is paid to the secondary school record, standardized testing, recommendations, essays and any information providing insight into the work of the student. Assessing the potential for success involves considering not only the quality of academic preparation and a student's zest for learning, but also qualities such as leadership and devotion to community service.

HIGH SCHOOL COURSE SELECTION

Admissions officials at Tufts depend on standardized scores to evaluate how well students have fulfilled their secondary school requirements. It is important for students to take the most challenging courses available commensurate with their abilities. Students who have developed competencies in areas such as music, art, or foreign language may choose to pursue more demanding courses in these areas, but these will not be used as the basis for admission decisions if math and science courses are not taken.

INTERVIEWS

Most students who apply to the university will have the opportunity for a personal interview in their local area with a member of the Tufts Admissions Program. An interview with an admissions officer is available by call or e-mail. Students are strongly encouraged to interview if possible, as interviews provide the opportunity for students to meet faculty and students in the university and to learn more about Tufts from a student's perspective. Interviews are conducted between late October and early January. Although on-campus interviews with admissions staff are not offered, campus visits are strongly encouraged and are considered as an important part of the admissions process.

TEST RESULTS

We ask students to submit the SAT Reasoning Test along with a writing sample which should be sent in the form of the Writing Subject Test (last offered in January 2005) or the writing section of the ACT. The SAT Reasoning Test offers the opportunity for students to display their intellectual strengths, skills and abilities. SAT Reasoning Test scores submitted to Tufts are used in evaluating candidates for academic preparation and are used in evaluating candidates for academic preparation and are not required for admission.

During the 2005-2006 admissions cycle, the University received 15,525 applications. Of those applications, 4,311 students were accepted and 2,908 were admitted. The average SAT scores for the Class of 2010 were: Math 696, Critical Reading 718, Writing 710. The average ACT composite score was 26.

The SAT Reasoning Test scores for the Tufts students who applied to the university are as follows:

- Critical Reading: 718
- Mathematics: 710
- Writing: 710

ACT Composite Scores

The Admissions Process at Tufts

The admissions process is a detailed and individualized one, involving consideration of the applicant’s high school record, standardized test scores, essays, interviews, and any other information provided by the student. The goal of the admissions process is to identify students who have the potential for success in college and beyond. This process involves evaluating each applicant’s academic record, leadership qualities, extracurricular activities, and personal characteristics.

INTERVIEWS

U.S. students are required to submit the SAT Reasoning Test as part of the application process. Students should also consider submitting the SAT Subject Tests. The ACT is an alternative test to the SAT. All students are encouraged to submit an essay as part of their application.

TEST RESULTS

Tufts students are a diverse group with a wide range of academic backgrounds. The typical high school transcript includes four years of English, three years of mathematics, two years of science, and four years of social science. The typical student has completed at least 18 credits, as measured by the Carnegie unit, and is expected to have taken at least four years of English, three years of mathematics, and two years of science.

TESTS OF THE INTERNET

Students who are visiting Tufts may use the admission office Web site at http://apply.tufts.edu to access the online application and to view the campus tour. Information may be requested from the Web or a printed copy will be mailed upon request.

Visiting the Campus

GROUP ORIENTATION MEETINGS, conducted by an admission officer, are a convenient introduction to Tufts. An optional academic advising opportunity, campus life, study abroad, resources of Boston, housing, athletics, financial aid, and student life are offered within a one-hour time period. Students must register for the orientation meeting by calling the admission office and should check with the receptionist upon arriving in Bendetson Hall. The annual schedule for group sessions is as follows:

February-mid-March Monday–Friday 1:20 p.m., 2:50 p.m., 3:45 p.m.
Late March–April Monday–Friday 10:30 a.m., 11:50 a.m., 1:30 p.m., 2:50 p.m.

September–November Saturday 9:30 a.m.
December–February Orientation meetings are not available.

Please contact the admission office for availability of orientation meetings.
Times and dates are subject to change.

CAMPUS Tours Led by Tufts students are offered following each orientation meeting. The tour is an excellent way to view the Tufts facilities and academic programs, and it is highly recommended that Tufts-bound student applicants make arrangements to attend. Tours are conducted between late October and early February.

Although on-campus accommodations with admission staff are not offered, campus tours are strongly encouraged and are recommended as an important part of the admission process.

Tuition on the Internet

Students visiting Tufts may view the admission office Web site at http://apply.tufts.edu... Tufts provides a variety of information about the university as well as a wide range of tools that permit registered students to view Tufts campus and academic programs. Information may be requested from the Web site through an online form or by e-mail.

Students also will have access to the overnight, housing, student orientation, study abroad, and financial aid information. The online form request is designed to provide a variety of views of the campus and descriptions of many of the buildings.

Students should visit the Tufts Web site in the preferred method of applying for the Class of 2010. This application is available through a completely secure and encrypted system on a nationally available computer. Students do not need to apply electronically. A paper copy of the application is available on www.apply.tufts.edu and can be mailed upon request.

FINANCIAL AID AT TUF TS

Tuition remains committed to a policy of awarding aid on the basis of need as determined through the analysis of family circumstances. Need was determined using information from the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), the CSS/Financial Aid PROFILE, and federal tax returns. The university does not offer aid under the auspices of National Merit Scholarship Corporation awards. BOSTON PROGRAMS technology also are available.

For the Class of 2009, Tufts awarded more than $81 million in federal, state, and institutional aid. The average grant per student was $17,670. The average award includes much lower student loan indebtedness than the national average of $15,330 per year.

In the past, Tufts has met the demonstrated financial eligibility of all admitted students and is intent on meeting the challenge of continuing this policy.

To Guidance and College Counselors,

I am delighted to share with you the Class of 2009 profiles. To the Class of 2008: I wish you the best in your upper-class years. To the Class of 2009: I look forward to welcoming you to the Class of 2010.

Located on a former grantee campus near Boston, Tufts is a university with a national and international reach. With more than 4,200 undergraduate students and nearly 3,000 graduate and professional students, Tufts offers the perfect combination of academic rigor, research expertise, depth and breadth of a renowned community college with the global reach of an international university. The university — which is also home to a community affiliated with a small liberal arts college — is committed to ensuring undergraduate education is rich in intellectual, cultural and creative opportunities. Tufts is a progressive community that celebrates curiosity and achievement. Our students pursue a variety of educational paths, including those who love politics, those who would like to be doctors, and law or policy-makers who are technologically inclined. The university is committed to improving the ways which we communicate the Tufts message to those who are interested in learning more about Tufts.

I am delighted to share with you the Class of 2009 profile and hope you will use it to communicate with your students about Tufts University.
